

VANCOUVER MUNICIPAL COURT

for Vancouver B.C.

---

tr33sinthew00ds,

Plaintiff(s),

v.

Remotespider463

Defendant(s).

MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGEMENT

PRESIDING JUDGE KOALAMEDVEDEVA

DATE FILED: 11/20/2022

---

INTRODUCTION

The plaintiff in the matter of tr33sinthew00ds v. Remotespider463 motions for summary judgement in this case on the grounds that the facts presented power over any possible defence.

BACKGROUND

This case has been filed against Remotespider463, alleging torts of negligence, false arrest & false imprisonment because of their actions during October 22nd, 2022.

ARGUMENT

One part of Flight from a peace officer is defined as "Willfully evading a peace officer on foot in an attempt to evade lawful detainment...". During the confrontation with Remotespider463, he did not initially say I was detained for a crime until I "committed" flight from a peace officer. I was just asking him a question. No detainment, no crime, no balance of probabilities/probable cause to make an arrest for flight from a peace officer. It was a brief conversation between Remotespider463 and me.

I also believe that Remotespider463 arrested me from flight from a peace officer because they dislike me, and was trying to get petty to throw me into jail. A scenario like this has happened to me before, a peace officer who disliked me saw me doing something he thought was illegal but wasn't, and tried to imprison me for the maximum amount of time for the non-crime that I did. Throughout the supervisor request and the confrontation with Remotespider463, he has acted immature and disrespectful to me, which shows a conflict of interest.

